Important Notice: Bail Court at College Park

You can have your bail hearing by video!

---

- The Toronto Bail program is now on site at the Toronto South Detention Centre. You can request to see them.
- Ontario Legal Aid workers and Duty Counsel are also on-site to provide you with legal advice and assist you with your Legal Aid Application.
- Duty Counsel at the institution can represent you at your bail hearing and make submissions on your behalf. They can also represent you on guilty pleas via video link.
- Appearing by video eliminates transportation issues, as you can be released from the institution with your property instead of having to make your way back to pick it up
- Appearing by video saves you from having to be transported to court. You can also take your property with you when you are released.

You can ask the court to appear by video from the institution on your next appearance. You will then have an opportunity to contact sureties and speak to your lawyer who can assist you by helping to create a bail plan for your release. Your lawyer or Duty Counsel can appear at the courthouse and represent you and your interests, while you remain at the institution and appear by video.

Video appearances can permit Duty Counsel or your lawyer to contact sureties and organize a plan for release. You do not have to make a time consuming in-person court appearance for this to take place.
